Fixing the Cabin

Last summer, we had a bad storm outside of the city that ruined our cabin. So, we had to fix a lot of things. A tree fell down and messed up the cement in the area where we park the cars, so we had to repave that. The roof started leaking from all of the rain, so we had to replace the ceiling. We had to call the roofing company to fix the roof. While they were fixing the roof, we repainted the walls inside. We chose to paint them a coral color. It really brought out the color of the hardwood floors. I can't wait to spend next summer out at the cabin now that it has been repaired.

Cindy Goes to Camp

Cindy was so excited that she was finally able to go to camp. She remembered hearing her cousins talk about all of the fun they had when they went. She was so excited that she woke up at 6 that morning. When they finally got to camp, she was excited to meet the other children whom she would be sharing a cabin with. On the first day, they made the call for breakfast at 7 in the morning. That was way too early! After eating cereal for breakfast, everybody got to go rafting in the river nearby. Cindy had a blast that afternoon and couldn't wait for the activities for the rest of the week.

Why was Cindy so excited about going to camp?
